- David Rush, senior product manager, Cradlepoint, presents "Impact of 5G on Your Business"
- Martin Jack, chief technology officer, Barcoding, Inc., presents "Windows End of Life and Moving to Android"
- Brian Harvey, senior systems engineer, Barcoding, Inc., presents "How to Have a Flawless Implementation"
- Peter Zalinski, product manager, Identification Solutions, Barcoding, Inc., presents "Label Automation and the Supply Chain: Meeting Global Standards"
- Ken Currie, vice president of business development, Barcoding, Inc., presents "Telematics- A Platform for Transformation "
- Noel McKeon, business development director, IntelliTrack, presents "Best Practices for IoT and Asset Intelligence"

- Tom O'Boyle, director of RFID, Barcoding, Inc., presents "Digitizing the Supply Chain; the Promise of IoT"
- Chase Sowden, supply chain architect, Six Sigma Black Belt, Barcoding, Inc., presents "Ideas for a More Efficient and Productive Warehouse "

Executive Forum 7 is Barcoding's premier supply chain event. The full-day conference is designed to provide #SupplyChainGeeks with the knowledge to succeed with mobile technology in the enterprise. In addition to Speciale-Corbin's keynote, sessions and panels with leading area supply chain experts, the event will feature an RFID demonstration; networking opportunities; exclusive executive briefings; and a Solutions Showcase featuring the latest mobile computers, tablets, printers, software, analytics and much more. Sandy Pagnotti, president and CEO, Ronald McDonald House Charities of Baltimore, will also be featured during the afternoon to demonstrate how organizations can partner with nonprofits to better their communities

Shane Snyder, president, Barcoding, Inc., said, "Each year, we bring together the most insightful thought leaders in the supply chain industry to share best practices and proven strategies. This year's lineup will have something for everyone – from the latest in IoT and RFID to Six Sigma and implementation best practices. We hope our attendees gain actionable insights they can take back to their organizations and put to good use."
